The SAS Tutorials are a series of educational materials designed to teach individuals how to use the SAS software. When referencing or citing these tutorials, it is important to follow the appropriate formatting guidelines for your chosen citation style (such as APA, MLA, Chicago, etc.). This includes providing the title of the tutorial, the author or organization responsible for creating it, the date it was published, and the URL or location of the tutorial. By properly citing the SAS Tutorials, you are giving credit to the original source and ensuring the accuracy and credibility of your work.
