

Hyperopic (hyperopia)

Authored by mohammad looti

September 30, 2025

RECOMMENDED CITATION

mohammad looti (2025). Hyperopic (hyperopia). PSYCHOLOGICAL SCALES. Retrieved from <https://scales.arabpsychology.com/?p=30708>

A person who is far-sighted is said to be Hyperopic. When one is hyperopic, it means that one has a condition called Hyperopia, which is a defect of vision caused by having a short eyeball. A short eyeball results in images focusing behind the eye. Thus, an object that is blurry will become clearer when moved farther so that the image focuses right at the eye.

ARABPSYCHOLOGY.COM